- The training will focus on methods within the Desired Results system that will improve services to children resulting in overall program improvement.
- The secondary focus will be to provide training for using the tools that will support program improvement.
- This training will help participants use the Desired Results tools to demonstrate program accountability.

DESIRED RESULTS TRAINING

SESSION 1: OVERVIEW

Handout

None

Desired Results training is the result of a desire on the part of the California Department of Education, Early Learning and Care Division to improve and standardize program quality across the state.

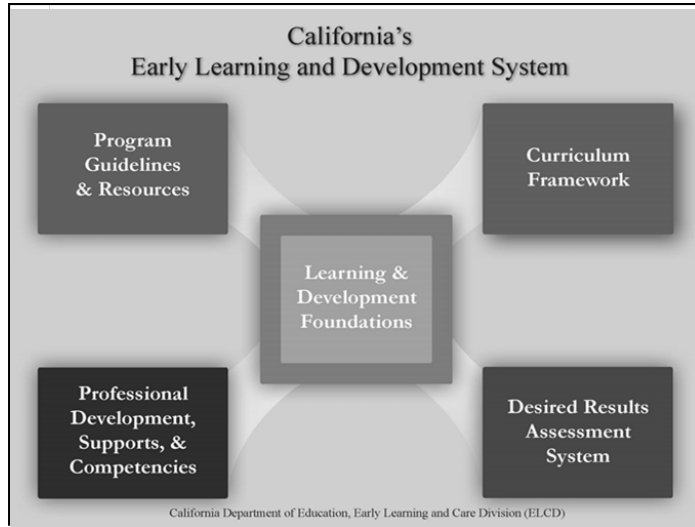

In Session I, an overview of the system's components will provide preliminary information on the Desired Results for Children and Families system's goals and structure.

Later, additional details and information will be provided to give participants knowledge about each element of the Desired Results system.

DESIRED RESULTS TRAINING

Handout

Element 1: At the center of the system are the Learning and Development Foundations which describe the learning and development infants and toddlers typically demonstrate with appropriate support at around 8, 18 and 36 months. It also describes the learning and development for preschool children that is typically demonstrated with appropriate support at around 48 and 60 months of age. Having statewide foundations provides all teachers and programs with knowledge of the expectations and goals for children in California to use as they plan activities, the environment, and interactions.

Element 2: Infant and Toddler and Preschool Learning and Development Guidelines present information about how to provide high-quality early care and education, including recommendations for program policies and day-to-day practices that will improve program services. In addition, the Preschool English Learner Guide provides teachers with the knowledge and tools they seek to educate preschool English learners most effectively.

Element 3: The Curriculum Frameworks are a resource for teachers to support setting up environments, selecting appropriate materials, supporting children's self-initiated play and learning, and planning and implementing teacher-guided learning activities. The frameworks are not a curriculum.

Element 4: The fourth component of the system is the Desired Results System. It is a continuous improvement system that is intended to improve program quality. The system consists of four parts including the Desired Results Developmental Profile® which measures children's progress towards the desired results, the Parent Survey which measures parent satisfaction with the program, the Environment Rating Scales which assesses the classroom environment, and the Program Self-Evaluation which assesses program quality.

Element 5: In California, numerous professional development opportunities are available to assist programs. These include the Program for Infant/Toddler Care (PTTC), California Early Childhood Online (CECO), California Preschool Instructional Network (CPIN), California School-Age Consortium (CalSAC), Family Child Care at Its Best, the mentor programs, pre-service, the COSECE Family Initiative Project, the Child Development Training Consortium and the Desired Results Training and Technical Assistance Project. The California Early Childhood Educator (ECE) Competencies describe the knowledge, skills and dispositions that early childhood educators need in order to provide high-quality care and education to young children and their families.

This information is included in the online overview of the system. Today we are focusing on the Desired Results assessment system. This handout is in the binder and contains information for each of the elements on the back side. You will be able to write in the resources available for each component.

Trainer note: Direct participants to use a highlighter to highlight key words as the elements are discussed. Instruct participants to keep this handout available.

At the center of the system are the Learning and Development Foundations which describe the learning and development that preschool children typically demonstrate with appropriate support.

The Infant/Toddler Learning & Development Foundations describe what children know and are able to do at around 8 months, 18 months, and 36 months

The Preschool Learning Foundations describe what children know and are able to do at around 48 months and 60 months when in a high quality program.

Early learning foundations are also known by the terms “early learning standards” in other states.

Another element of the system includes the Curriculum Frameworks. The Framework offers guidance on how programs and teachers can support the learning and development that are described in the foundations through environments and experiences that are linguistically and developmentally appropriate, as well as individually and culturally meaningful and connected.

GOALS:
Use 3-sticker
The goal of this activity is to provide participants with an opportunity to meet one another at the table and share expectations of this training.

MATERIALS REQUIRED:
1. Chart Paper
2. Markers

TIME: 10 - 15 MINUTES

ACTIVITY PROCESS:

1. The new participants take a moment to introduce themselves to others at the table.
2. All participants reflect on the meaning of desired results.
3. Each participant takes 3 sticky notes to pieces of paper. They will write down 1. What they already KNOW about desired results system 2. What they WANT to know about 3. What they have questions about.
4. They will take and place their sticky notes (paper or already prepared KWL chart).
5. At the end of the day the participants are to post their 27 sticky notes to the L chart.

SESSION 1: OVERVIEW

Handout

The Desired Results System model, a visual representation of the system, is a set of four concentric circles. The innermost circle represents the "heart" of the system, the individual child's developmental progress. Progress is assessed through the use of the Desired Results Developmental Profile (DDRP).

The next circle represents agencies' support for families' goals. Parent satisfaction is determined through the distribution and collection of Parent Surveys.

The third circle represents classroom or family child care home environments. The appropriateness of children's environments is assessed by using the Environment Rating Scales (ERS) instrument.

The last circle represents the program or agency. Program quality is assessed using the Federal Program Monitoring and the Contract Monitoring Review Instrument (FPML/CMR).

Supportive documents for implementation of the model include: Infant/Toddler and Preschool Learning Foundations, Infant/Toddler Learning and Development Program Guidelines, Preschool Learning and Development Guidelines, K-12 Academic Content and Performance Standards and California's Preschool Framework and the Preschool English Learners Resource Guide.

It is important to understand that the foundations describe the knowledge and skills that all young children typically exhibit:

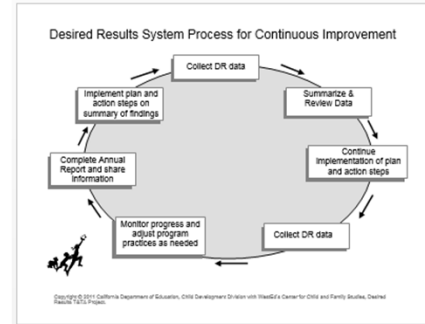

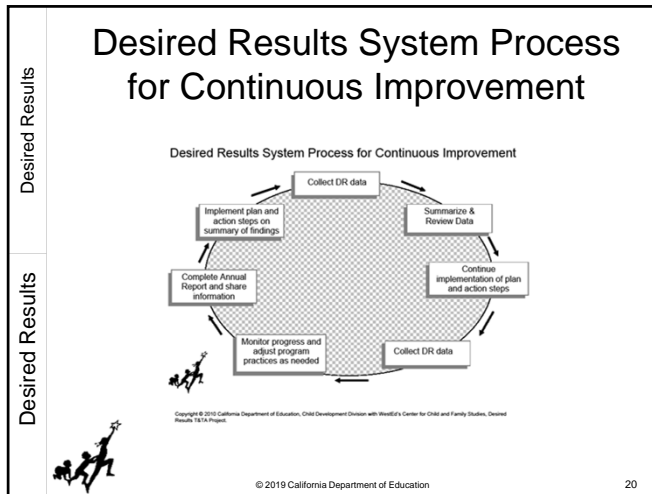

- at about 8, 18, and 36 months for infants and toddlers
- at about 48 months and about 60 months of age for preschool children
- as they complete their first or second year of preschool;
- with appropriate support; and
- when attending a high-quality preschool program.

The DRDP is the child observational assessment tool that is used by teachers to record a child's progress on a developmental continuum.

SESSION 1: OVERVIEW

Handout

Trainer note: Ask participants to follow along on the DR System Process for Continuous Improvement handout.

In this diagram, programs begin at the top left box of the cycle, with implementing the Program Quality Dimensions and moving clock-wise around the cycle each program year. After adjustments have been made, administrators analyze and evaluate the progress to determine what subsequent actions should be taken to ensure continued progress.

SESSION 1: OVERVIEW

Trainer note: Briefly ask how many people have used the DRDP to assess children.

- The DRDP serves as a framework for documenting the progress children demonstrate over time.
- The DRDP provides teachers with concrete information that will help them tailor their curriculum to meet the needs of the children.

The Parent Survey is the questionnaire to evaluate parents' satisfaction with programs.

The Parent Survey:

- Gives programs access to information from parents to improve program quality
- Determines parent satisfaction with their child's program
- Is conducted at least once per year

Handout

- The Environment Rating Scales allow programs to assess their learning environments.
- Research projects have discovered a meaningful relationship between ERS scores and child outcome measures, as well as between ERS scores and teacher characteristics, teacher behaviors, and compensation.
- The Environment Rating Scale is used to measure implementation of Program Quality Dimensions.
- Each classroom, family childcare home, and school age facility must be assessed at least once per program year.

California's Early Learning and Development System

Element 1: At the center of the system are the Learning and Development Foundations which describe the learning and development infants and toddlers typically demonstrate with appropriate support at around 8, 18 and 36 months. It also describes the learning and development for preschool children that is typically demonstrated with appropriate support at around 48 and 60 months of age. Having statewide foundations provides all teachers and programs with knowledge of the expectations and goals for children in California to use as they plan activities, the environment, and interactions.

Element 2: Infant and Toddler and Prekindergarten Learning and Development Guidelines present information about how to provide high-quality early care and education, including recommendations for program policies and day-to-day practices that will improve program services. In addition, the Preschool English Learner Guide provides teachers with the knowledge and tools they seek to educate preschool English learners most effectively.

Element 3: The Curriculum Frameworks are a resource for teachers to support setting up environments, selecting appropriate materials, supporting children's self initiated play and learning, and planning and implementing teacher guided learning activities. The frameworks are not a curriculum.

Element 4: The fourth component of the system is the Desired Results System. It is a continuous improvement system that is intended to improve program quality. The system consists of four parts including the Desired Results Developmental Profile® which measures children's progress towards the desired results, the Parent Survey which measures parents' satisfaction with the program, the Environment Rating Scales which assesses the classroom environment, and the Program Self Evaluation which assesses program quality.

Element 5: In California, numerous professional development opportunities are available to assist programs. These include the Program for Infant/Toddler Care (PITC), California Early Childhood Online (CECO), California Preschool Instructional Network (CPIN), California School-Age Consortium (CalSAC), Family Child Care at Its Best, the mentor programs, pre-service, the CDE/ECE Faculty Initiative Project, the Child Development Training Consortium and the Desired Results Training and Technical Assistance Project. The California Early Childhood Educator (ECE) Competencies describe the knowledge, skills and dispositions that early childhood educators need in order to provide high quality care and education to young children and their families.

DESIRED RESULTS MODEL

The Desired Results System Model

The Desired Results System model, a visual representation of the system, is a set of four concentric circles. The innermost circle represents the “heart” of the system, the individual child’s developmental progress. Progress is assessed through the use of the Desired Results Developmental Profile (DRDP).

The next circle represents agencies’ support for families’ goals. Parent satisfaction is determined through the distribution and collection of Parent Surveys.

The third circle represents classroom or family child care home environments. The appropriateness of children’s environments is assessed by using the Environment Rating Scale (ERS) instrument.

The last circle represents the program or agency. Program quality is assessed using the Federal Program Monitoring and the Contract Monitoring Review instrument (FPM/CMR).

Supportive documents for implementation of the model include: Infant /Toddler and Preschool Learning Foundations, Infant/Toddler Learning and Development Program Guidelines, Prekindergarten Learning and Development Guidelines, K-12 Academic Content and Performance Standards and California’s Preschool Framework and the Preschool English Learners Resource Guide.
